Step 1: Select your annual license

Q-interactive requires an annual license—good for one year from the date of purchase—for users to gain access to the software platform. The annual fee is based on the number of test instruments available through your license.

To calculate the cost of your license, determine how many test instruments you want to access and how many clinicians will need to have access to them. These two factors will determine the cost of your license.

Annual License - Cost per user
Number of instruments	1-4 instruments	5-8 instruments	9+ instruments
1 - 4 users	$300	$350	$400
5-24 users	$275	$325	$375
25+ users	$250	$300	$350

Step 2: Estimate annual subtest usage

Q-interactive assessments are priced at the subtest level, providing you with the greatest flexibility to meet your assessment needs. Subtest costs are accrued for each subtest administered on Q-interactive. The subtest cost covers assessment/subtest administration, scores and normative data and administration and scoring information.

Pre-pay for Subtests
You should estimate your annual subtest usage based on your administration history for all users of the license.
A good guideline is 10 subtests per comprehensive instrument.
Please note the administration of CVLT, GFTA and PPVT are equivalent to three subtests. Achievement measures (KTEA-3, WIAT-III and WRAT5) are equivalent to 0.5 credits.
Subtest volume	Cost per subtest
1 to 250 subtests	$2.00
251 to 750 subtests	$1.85
751 to 5,000 subtests	$1.70
5,001 to 12, 500 subtests	$1.40
12,501 to 50,000 subtests	$1.30

Q-interactive: How it works.

Q-interactive streamlines the entire assessment process. You can create client profiles, choose and develop batteries, and review scored data through a secure web-portal. Administration occurs using two tablets that “talk” to each other via Bluetooth connection. The clinician uses one to administer instructions, record and score responses, take notes, and control visual stimuli, while the client uses the other tablet to view and respond to stimuli.

Visit HelloQ.ca for more information, including Q-interactive Technical Reports on equivalency studies, the Q-interactive annual license fee, hardware requirements, as well as updated release dates.
