

Timeline for School District Q-interactive Assess App Migration

Something good is getting better! The brand-new Q-interactive® Assess app is coming summer of 2023 and we want the school districts that use Q-interactive to be ready to take advantage of all its new features.

Here are the basic steps for your transition:

- 1. Complete administration and scoring of all assessments on the current app and sync them with Q-central so all the data associated with the app and device are saved from the device.
- 2. Delete the current app from the device.
(Note: This will also delete every user's data on the device associated with the app so make sure that Step 1 has been completed prior to deleting the app.)

For large districts, this is often handled by the technology team through an Application Management System or Mobile Device Management software. The important part is to make sure all data has been synced with Q-central so that it is not inadvertently deleted when the application is updated.

3. Install the new Q-interactive Assess app from the App store.

For large districts, this is often handled by the technology team through an Application Management System or Mobile Device Management software. We recommend that this step take place at the same time the previous Assess app is removed from district devices.

4. Once the new Assess app is on the device, take advantage of the self-service webinars and video training modules that will quickly show you all the new features and benefits. This new app is designed to improve your workflow and efficiency but is similar enough to the current version that you should not expect to have an extensive learning curve to take full advantage of what it has to offer.

5. Log in to the new Q-interactive Assess app using your current credentials and begin exploring all the great new features you have learned about! We can't wait to hear what you think of it!

Transition Timeline

Option 1: Stay ahead of the curve! Transition over the summer holidays or the first few days of the school year, so you can conduct all of your testing for the 2023-24 school year on the new app.

Option 2: Prepare to transition over winter break! The current version of the app will be discontinued in early 2024. There will be very little time left after winter break to complete the transition process.
